Bombing of hydro-electric plants on the Yalu River in North Korea has brought world-wide repercussions. Forty thousand pounds of bombs were dropped on this dam in a joint navy-air force attack.

Colored South Africans To Defy Law—Seek Jail

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa, June 26 (CP)—Armed police stood on the alert today as hundreds of non-whites prepared to seek jail in a defiance campaign against South Africa's race segregation laws.

First reports on the campaign came from Port Elizabeth where 30 Africans were arrested for breaking the apartheid (apartness) laws on the railroads—using station platforms, waiting rooms or train coaches specially reserved for whites.

Yusef A. Cachalia, campaign secretary, said a trained, disciplined vanguard of volunteers would go into action "like soldiers" in all major cities to flout the segregation laws. They expect to be jailed.

He stressed, however, that no call had gone out for a general work stoppage. Effective precautions have been taken to conduct the movement peacefully, he added.

Behind the campaign is the African National Congress, representing the country's 8,000,000 negroes, and the South African Indian Congress, representing 300,000 Asians.

Two separate actions were to kick off the defiance campaign in Johannesburg.

TO IGNORE PERMITS
Around mid-day, after the chief magistrate had been informed, at least 50 negroes were to breach laws ordering them to carry various sorts of permits—identity, employment and tax papers and the like. Their leader was Rev. N. B. Trantzi, who heads the African Episcopal Methodist Church here and also is acting president of the African National Congress.

Later a Transvaal State leader of the Indian Congress, Nana Sita, was to lead another group in breaking the night curfew for non-whites.

The defiance aims at repeal of segregation laws deemed unjust by South Africa's non-whites—negroes, colored (mixed blood) and Indians. They hope the law defiance will snowball into a mass movement that will fill the jails Premier Daniel F. Malan's government cannot handle it.

The non-whites outnumber whites here four to one.

The growing threat to white supremacy is reported to have produced a new attempt to narrow the wide political gap between Malan's Nationalist Government and the opposition United Party.

Qualified informants said former Defense Minister Oswald Pirow, a Nationalist supporter, is negotiating secretly for a compromise between moderates in the government and the opposition.

The ruling Nationalists and the United Party differ little in their race policies—the quarrel is how best to achieve the same goal of continued white supremacy.

PROPOSES 'NEW ORDER'

Pirow has proposed a "new order" plan which would set up separate white and non-white states in South Africa. He recently warned the divided white South Africans they must unite or be crushed by the rising, restless non-white population.

The serious dispute between the government and its varied opposition stems from Malan's attempt last year to disenfranchise the coloreds in Cape Province. After the Supreme Court declared unconstitutional his new "coloreds" voting law, he pushed through parliament a law setting up a parliamentary high court as the highest judicial authority on constitutional questions.

His parliamentary opposition—largely of English extraction—fear such rights as use of English as a national language and other ties with Britain are headed toward extinction at the hands of the Dutch-descended Nationalists.

A similar order was served on Fred Carneson, forbidding him to become a member of the city council. Carneson was deprived of his seat in the Cape provincial council under the Suppression Act.

Earlier today, the Justice Minister lifted a ban on Emil Solomon Sachs, former general secretary of the Garment Workers' Union, who had been prohibited from living anywhere in the union outside the Transvaal.

Sachs had been "named" under the same act and forbidden to move from the Transvaal for two years from May 8.

2 Guards Held As Hostages In Jail Riot

EDDYVILLE, Ky., June 26 (AP)—Two guards were reported held as hostages today following a riot at the state prison. All police in western Kentucky were called to the penitentiary, which houses approximately 1,000 prisoners.

An uprising began among the prisoners at 10 o'clock Wednesday night, and was quelled four hours later. Another riot broke out about 11 a.m. today.

Eddyville is Kentucky's maximum security prison for hardened criminals. It is in Lyon County, on the banks of the Cumberland River in West Kentucky.

JUDAS, LIAR, THUG, TRAITOR NOW TABOO IN AUSSIE HOUSE

CANBERRA, June 26 (Reuters)—Members of Australia's federal parliament have been given a printed "blacklist" of 500 words and expressions banned in house debates.

Some of the words: Judas, Liar, Cur, Thug, Traitor, Rat, Heathen and Scab.

Speakers have also frowned on expressions like "A sausage skin filled with wind and water and painted like a Chinese god." "Grins like an ape at his own lack of intelligence," and "The impudence of three and the intelligence of half a man."

"Liar," in the subtle form of "not in accordance with the facts and well he knows it," is also on the blacklist.

ONE WOMAN'S DAY

By NANCY HODGES

SCOTTISH SERENADE

ONE OF THOSE diverting situations which help to keep up the gaiety of nations in these days of strike-induced gloom happened a week or so ago in Aberdeen, Scotland. It arose in connection with the Highland games held every summer in that city.

Having no girls' pipe band of its own, the City Council invited the group from Dagenham, England—of all places!—to come and supply the music and dance the Highland dances for the delegation of the Aberdonians and their British Scots.

SNUBBED SCOTS

THAT DECISION to bring in English lassies to participate in anything as Scottish as Highland games is surprising enough in itself, but it is all the more amazing in view of the fact that the Wick Girls' Pipe Band from the Scottish Highlands offered their services, too, but were politely informed that the Aberdeen plans were already completed.

I don't know whether regional jealousies in Scotland are as prevalent as they are in Canada, for instance, between Victoria and Vancouver, or Edmonton and Calgary, but you would have thought the native product of Wick would have been preferable to any real Aberdonian than a foreign import from England.

FROM FAR-AWAY IOWA

HOWEVER, TO ADD to the piquancy of the situation, in the middle of the City Council controversy, came word that a girls' pipe band from the state University of Iowa, U.S.A.—complete with kilts—intended to pipe their way through Scotland in August and would gladly come to Aberdeen in return for their expenses.

At that point, the lakes and parks committee of the council figured the U.S. invasion would cost $700 and recommended that the Iowa girls be invited. But the council turned thumbs down—by a vote of 20 to 8—on the Iowa University's offer, after a somewhat heated discussion.

BAGPIPES AND BEBOP

AND DON'T THINK it was just the bawbees that did it! Councillor Frank Magee led the opposition to the Iowa influx in the following rather cruel terms:

"Here are a lot of comic characters who make a true mockery of Scotland's national instrument and dress. We are being asked to help them create a comic atmosphere that may be suitable in Iowa, U.S.A., but not in Aberdeen, Scotland.

"I can just imagine what it will be like. There will probably be half a dozen chorus girls with practically nothing on playing the bagpipes.

When people come to Aberdeen to hear pipe bands, they don't want to listen to novelty numbers of the girls in bebop or jazz tunes such as 'Loch Lomond' and 'Wells O' Wearie'.

"I would say to these girls, 'Go back and give the people of Chicago or Illinois a treat, but not us'."

SYNTHETIC STUFF?

THAT ABERDEEN councillor evidently has a poor idea of the synthetic Scottish products put out by our neighbors to the South. He must think that Iowa's idea of plaids and tartans, of kilts and sporrans, is to reduce them to the same minimum as the so-called Bikini bathing suits which seem destined to cause a lot of over-exposure on the beaches this summer.

But what intrigued me particularly was his suggestion that the Iowa lassies would produce "bebop" on the bagpipes. I confess that while my blood has been stirred by the playing of the pipers of the Black Watch, the Scots Guards and other famous Scottish regiments, there have been times when my flesh has been goose-pimpled by the emanations of amateur pipers as they panted and wheezed their way through some of the Highland airs.

RUDE REACTIONS

AND WHILE I AM ready to placate my Scottish friends by admitting that the goose-pimples may have been due more to my lack of proper musical appreciation rather than to the playing of the piper, I hesitate to anticipate my reactions were the horrors of bebop to be added to the other weird wails emitted from some of the suffering pipes I have heard in my time.

In the meantime, I hope that Aberdeen's rejection of the Iowa girls' offer will not do anything to upset the otherwise harmonious relations between Scotland and the U.S.A., as evidenced in the American avidity for anything Scotch, whether plaidie or drappie. After all, the Aberdeen councillor, Frank Magee, who administered the snub, is an Englishman, so the blame can be laid, along with a lot of other things, on England.

ASSOCIATED CHAMBERS MEET

Back Island Steel Industry

Special to The Times

PORT ALBERT, June 26.—A steel industry project for Vancouver Island received strong support from delegates to the annual meeting of Associated Chambers of Commerce of Vancouver Island which concluded here Wednesday.

Members passed a resolution to request the B.C. government to make a complete survey of iron ore deposits on the island with a view to setting up a steel plant at Union Bay.

Robert Mawhinney, newly-elected president of the island chamber group, suggested that the area was ideal for steel making operations. Coal and fuel are close to hand, he pointed out, and the possibility of a natural gas line for the island with resulting cheap power would be a great asset.

Mr. Mawhinney deplored the current practice of shipping Campbell River iron ore to Japan to make steel which was returned here.

The U.S.-owned Argonaut Company is at present shipping out 100,000 tons of ore a month from the island's Quinsam deposits, Mr. Mawhinney said.

He did not condemn the company, but he explained that the present operation employs only 300 men, whereas a steel industry would employ many more.

Mr. Mawhinney estimated that the 500,000 tons of ore a year now going to Japan from Island sources would produce $50,000,000 worth of steel.

"This money could well come to British Columbia," Mr. Mawhinney said.

Delegates also strongly supported a broad program of highway and secondary road development for the island.

One resolution asked for a road from Port Alberni to Ucluelet and Tofino as soon as possible. Another requested immediate improvement of the road linking Sayward and Campbell River.

The Courtenay-Comox delegation stressed the need for a comprehensive road-building program to aid development of industry.

The plan for a federal park taking in the Strathcona, Long Beach and Forbidden Plateau area of the island was discussed but the convention decided that in view of the large land area and resources involved, such a park project might hinder industrial expansion.

"If the park would hamper industrial development or involve the government in considerable expense, we ought to consider the matter more fully before making a recommendation," said T. G.

Denny, president of the Victoria chamber.

The meeting voted to request Hon. W. T. Straith, who heads the existing sub-committee on the island park project, to report on the situation.

HOW PRICES HAVE FALLEN IN BRITISH COLUMBIA FOREST INDUSTRIES

Here are vital facts behind the effort to prevent higher costs and seriously reduced employment in coastal woods and mills.

Because the public interest is so directly affected by today's strike called by the I.W.A. to enforce the most costly wage and other demands in the history of the logging and lumber industry, a clear understanding should exist of the way in which log, lumber and shingle prices have fallen in the past year.

Here is the comparison:

		Price Per Thousand Feet
		1951	1952	% Decline
LOGS
Douglas Fir	No. 3 Grade	62.50	50.00	20%
	No. 2 Grade	75.00	60.00	20%
Lumber Cedar	No. 1 Grade	85.00	70.00	17.64%

In spite of these declines and shrunken markets operators have offered to renew 1951 wage contract terms.

The strike was called after operators accepted the proposal of a Conciliation Board that they continue the 1951 wage agreement terms for another year. This proposal has never been the subject of a secret vote of employees.

HERE are actual average wage rates and earnings in the logging and lumber industry, as in April, 1952:

	Average Hourly Rate	Daily Rate	Actual Hourly Av. Earnings	Av. Daily Earnings
Sawmills	$1.627	$13.01	$1.65	$13.20
Shingle Mills	1.868	14.92	1.877	15.02
Plywood Mills	1.556	12.45	1.563	12.50
Logging	2.02	16.16	2.08	16.64
Fallers and Buckers	3.21	25.68	3.21	25.68
Industry as a whole	1.79	14.32	1.83	14.64

Today's conditions will not be helped by bitterness or emotional charges. The industry as a whole is faced by a set of unyielding economic facts that call for sober stock-taking of British Columbia's position and a realistic approach to the problem of maintaining the Province's number one payroll industry at the best possible level of employment and production.

The Deep Wedge

WHEN THE CURRENT AMERICAN political campaign got under way most foreigners probably assumed that the Republicans were bound to win it. President Truman, the unequalled campaigner who turned the miracle of 1948, had withdrawn. The Solid South was in revolt against him. The administration was tarred with the brush of corruption. Above all, the Democrats had been in office for 20 years and it appeared time for a change.

The Republican convention of July has been widely considered the decisive event of the election, since its candidate was bound to be President. The choice seemed to lie between two Republicans, General Eisenhower and Senator Taft.

These assumptions can no longer be considered reliable.

In the first place, it must be remembered that the normal Democratic vote in the United States is far larger than the Republican. The Democrats are the majority and the Republicans the minority party. To win an election a Republican candidate for President must not only win most of the independent vote but must cut into the registered Democratic vote as well.

A unified Republican party, under a popular leader, should be able to turn the tide this year, as Landon, Willkie and Dewey failed to turn it in 1936, 1940, 1944 and 1948. The Democrats as a party are weaker now than they were in any of those elections, through the age of the administration and the disappearance of its chief leaders, Roosevelt and Truman. But unity in the Republican party is essential to its victory and unity has not been achieved.

On the contrary, the Republican party is being riven by the deepest split of modern times, not only between the two powerful personalities of General Eisenhower and Senator Taft, but between two conflicting foreign policies.

Sensor Taft has gone so far in a personal attack on his opponent—tacitly blaming him for the unsatisfactory state of American defenses—that as a nominated candidate he can hardly expect much support from General Eisenhower in the election campaign. Or if General Eisenhower is nominated, Senator Taft cannot support him without abandoning his own policies. These two men, because both are powerful, able and courageous, threaten to drive a wedge into their party when it has its first real chance since 1932 to capture the government.

It has always been doubtful that Senator Taft, even if nominated, could win the election. General Eisenhower's friends have never doubted that Senator Taft would lose. For the first time, after the recent bitter quarrels of the two leading Republicans, practical politicians are beginning to wonder if even General Eisenhower could win. His name carries such magic, he is admired by so many independents and Democrats that he might well overcome the party split which must follow his nomination. Nevertheless, the Democratic party cannot be counted out, whatever the decision of the Republican convention may be.

The Democratic party desperately needs a new and vote-getting leader, and so far has found none. Certainly Senator Kefauver, the leading contender, has proved his popularity, built on his crime investigations, but he does not seem to impress the American people as having presidential stature. Southerners like Senator Russell are at a grave, perhaps a fatal, disadvantage in the Democratic north.

If the Democratic party could finally draft Governor Stevenson of Illinois, it would enter the campaign united as the Republicans can hardly hope to be.

In that case, whatever choice the Republican convention might make, the outcome of the Presidential election could not be taken for granted. And even if a Republican won the Presidency, his party might well fail to capture control of the Congress, with a resulting quarrel between the executive and the legislature, which is the cardinal weakness of the American system of separate powers.

The whole course of the campaign will turn on the decision of the Republican convention.

If Senator Taft is nominated the Democrats, whoever their candidate may be, will fight the election on the issue of foreign policy, denouncing the Republicans as neo-isolationists whose policies would undermine the structure of the free world.

If General Eisenhower is nominated that issue will largely disappear, since he is in basic agreement with the foreign policy of the Democratic government. Then the election will be fought mainly on domestic issues, the Democrats attacking the Republicans as reactionaries who would attempt to curtail if not repeal Roosevelt's New Deal.

All this would be a vast over-simplification of the real issues, both foreign and domestic, but over-simplification is the essence of a democratic election.

Thanks to the Senate

THE CANADIAN GOVERNMENT AND Parliament are now in process of admitting and repelling an egregious error.

About a year ago, without any real semblance of debate, the government introduced and the House of Commons rubber-stamped an amendment to the Dairy Products Act, empowering the cabinet to prevent the shipment of margarine and other butter substitutes from one province to another—this being solely a manoeuvre to placate the anti-margarine government of Quebec.

A band of Liberal Senators attempted but failed to veto the Commons' legislation. But Senator W. D. Euler, who led this attack, was not easily discouraged. He recently persuaded the Senate to pass a bill cancelling last year's legislation. The Euler bill then came to the Commons for approval and Mr. Gardiner, who was responsible for the original mistake, courageously undertook to sponsor the new legislation. In other words, he admits that he was wrong last year and is making honorable amends.

Presumably the Euler bill will now be approved by the House, which also admits its own folly. Parliament will abandon an attempt to strike at the freedom of inter-provincial trade, which is a cornerstone of the constitution and of the national economy. This will represent a decisive victory for the Senate and for good sense.

Canadians who are fond of talking about the abolition of a useless Senate should remember that in this test the Senate saved Canada from a piece of dangerous nonsense, refused to be bullied by a dairy pressure group in Quebec and put the welfare of the nation ahead of local politics. Such a chamber of second thoughts is too valuable to be lost. And all parties in the Commons have learned a useful lesson.

Saving the Province Money

WHEN THE NECESSARY QUIT claim has been executed, Victoria city will have repossessed itself of 700 acres in the Goldstream district which the Greater Victoria Water Board of an earlier year had been prepared to deed to the province for parks purposes.

The city also has a bill for $5,000 worth of work the provincial parks branch did on the property—and Victoria has the sole right to spend its own money on future development of the area. If it wishes to spend money or has the money to spend.

The story of the tract is simple enough. An earlier council, with representatives on the water board, conceived the idea that the community would benefit if the property were developed for parks purposes. With the board it made arrangements for the provincial branch to take over. The provincial parks experts surveyed the region, repaired the park tearooms, cut certain trails and prepared to throw a crew into the area to construct fireplaces and picnic facilities as well as camping sites last spring.

During the last civic election, one candidate, C. L. Harrison, attacked the arrangement whereby Victoria was giving up its equity in the property. As the result of his later representations, the provincial parks department held back. No crew went to work this year. Long-range plans were abandoned. A sum roughly equivalent to the $5,000 spent by the province last year was not laid out by the province this year. As negotiations became tangled through cross purposes, the province withdrew.

Now Victoria has no further park development in that area. It has, or will shortly have, the land.

Perhaps Victoria received the best of the bargain. But if the region is ever to become a park, the recent negotiations apparently would give the city taxpayers the privilege of footing the bill the province would have paid.

Not Quite Good Enough

SIGNS HAVE AGAIN BEEN PUT UP on the Ross Bay waterfront informing the public that the water is unsafe for bathing. Effluent from a sewer discharging into the open sea in that vicinity is causing the trouble.

The contaminated area is relatively restricted. Gonzales Bay, formerly under ban before installation of a comminutor at the sewer outlet modified the effects of pollution, is now reported safe.

The condition, however, is not good enough. When the comminutor was constructed it was understood that it would be tested for a short time. If it remedied the situation, no further work would be done.

On the other hand, if the comminutor alone proved inadequate to render the outflow harmless, it was distinctly understood that additional equipment would be added. Some form of chlorination was discussed, and the implication was clear that it would be applied if necessary.

The presence of the signs on the Dallas Road waterfront appear certain evidence of the need for further treatment. Residents of the district affected have every reason to protest and to call for action.

The issue should not be fobbed off with the remark that the water off the Dallas Road is too cold for swimming. Where in the city, other than in the polluted Gorge and in the carefully treated indoor Crystal Garden, is there warm salt water bathing?

LOOSE ENDS

Unwritten Words

BY BRUCE HUTCHISON

THE BRITISH CONSTITUTION, as inherited in Canada, works so well most of the time that we take it for granted. Like most important things, it is not written and is all the stronger for its lack of inflexible laws; whereas the written American Constitution, being inflexible, is always under strain one way or another, as in the case of the steel strike. Nevertheless, unwritten, elastic and amorphous as it is, the Constitution of Canada is a formidable thing, with which no politician can safely tamper.

THAT IS WHY the whole nation is watching British Columbia today. We have managed in the province to produce the first big constitutional situation in Canada since 1926. It may properly be called a situation. It is not a crisis, since no one is attempting to violate the Constitution. The question is not whether the Constitution shall be enforced but how it can be enforced in practical politics to perform its real function, the establishment of a legal and durable government.

THERE IS A PARALLEL between our present position and that of the national government after the election of 1925, though not an exact parallel by any means. In 1925 the government of Mr. Mackenzie King found itself with the second group in Parliament. The Conservative party elected more members, though short of a majority. Mr. King could not, however, on the support of the Progressive party, which he was quietly absorbing and digesting at leisure. Hence, without a majority and facing a larger party in opposition, Mr. King told Lord Byng, the Governor-General, that he proposed to remain in office, to meet Parliament and to see whether he could control it.

Six months later Mr. King faced Parliament (without a seat in it himself) and his government received several votes of confidence, thanks to the support of the Progressives. The decisive constitutional issue arose only when Mr. King, nearing almost certain defeat after the famous Customs scandal, asked Lord Byng to dissolve Parliament and call another election. This Lord Byng refused to do and called on Mr. Arthur Meighen to form a government. Within a few days Mr. Meighen was defeated in Parliament by one vote.

MR. KING denounced Mr. Meighen (and by inference Lord Byng) for violating the Constitution. He insisted that the Governor-General should have accepted his advice and granted him a dissolution. He admitted at one point (though this was quickly forgotten in the subsequent fury) that Lord Byng would have acted constitutionally if he had called in Mr. Meighen and Mr. Meighen had proved his ability to govern.

The alleged assault on the Constitution took place when Lord Byng, against Mr. King's advice, called in an adviser who could not govern. In the election campaign, however, the issue boiled down to something much simpler—the proposition that the crown can never refuse the advice of its prime minister, whatever that advice may be.

MOST practical politicians supposed that Mr. King had risked the future of the Liberal party on a fuzzy, technical and uninteresting issue. So thought Mr. Meighen also. The Canadian people, it was supposed, were interested only in bread and butter and could not be aroused by a dispute between constitutionalists.

There nearly everybody else was wrong and Mr. King was right. The Canadian people were disgusted with the King government, which had been convicted by Parliament of corruption in the Customs department. They had little use for Mr. King. They had given Mr. Meighen almost a majority the year before. Yet Mr. King, whose whole career seemed finished, won a triumph in the election.

THE REASON for the watershed decision of 1925 was obvious. Mr. King argued that if the Crown did not accept the advice of a Canadian prime minister then Canada was no better than a British colony, where the Crown actually ruled over Parliament and people. The people forgot the Customs scandal in a passion of Canadian nationalism and Mr. Meighen was not only defeated but permanently ruined beyond repair.

Thus the election of 1925 established beyond question in practical politics (though a respectable school of constitutionalists still considers Mr. King's position wrong and phony) that no prime minister can be refused a dissolution of Parliament and a new election if he has proved his ability to govern.

IT DOES NOT follow, however, that a prime minister defeated at the polls can then ask for a dissolution and another election. If that were so, a prime minister could remain, perpetually in office, against the public will, merely by calling repeated elections, thus reducing the constitution to absurdity. Mr. Johnson could not ask for a dissolution in British Columbia at this point. He would be entitled to it only after proving that he could control the legislature for at least a reasonable time. His duty is to advise the Crown either that he has reasonable hopes of governing or that someone else should be given the chance to govern.

No such crisis as that which rocked the nation in 1925 and nailed down for all time the supreme power of Parliament is likely to arise in British Columbia. Nevertheless, it would be a very foolish politician of any party who imagined that the Constitution doesn't matter much, that arrangements and deals can be made by the politicians outside the Constitution to erect a workable government.

THE CANADIAN PEOPLE have shown that they know what the Constitution is about even if they don't know the details. Parties and politicians can come and go. The Constitution, like any written law, cannot be violated, even in the smallest particular, without being ultimately destroyed. And on the Constitution hangs the life of the nation and the freedom of every person in it.

STUPID SYSTEM?

May I point out there is no sense in having another election shortly. There is no reason to believe it would produce a clear-cut decision, and it would mean money wasted.

Let the leading party form a cabinet and M.L.A.'s vote to public advantage instead of the party as before. It may be sound and wise legislation would result thereby.

It was the stupid party system that so many voted against this election, so why not try without it? If the cabinet were defeated on a major issue, then go to the people for a clear-cut decision.

Now Social Credit is an established party, it is more difficult to obtain a majority on a party basis because it will be three against one every time.

AUTO RACE TRACK

Regarding the letter from the P.T.A. in the Times of June 23 (about a new auto race track).

This letter shows absolute ignorance of the facts regarding location and safety. The track location is planned for a point over a quarter of a mile from the lake, and in an area at present not in use, as it is over 200 yards from the present road to the track location through a projected parking area.

The statement regarding delinquency is absolutely false, as the younger club members (15 years and up) are too interested in working on the cars to get into any trouble.

By the way, the association is investigating the possibility of a completely different road not using the present Thetis Lake Road.

MILLENIUM

Considering the serious impasse following last week's provincial election results, in the first experiment with the new voting system, I feel constrained to offer what I consider the only solution.

A few years ago I had a discussion with the late Sir Robert L. Borden, former Prime Minister of Canada. While motoring with Sir Robert he asked my opinion of the Canadian parliamentary system.

I replied that the fault lay in the party system, which I considered a serious waste of time in the House.

He asked how one could obviate this and improve upon it. I stated that every candidate for election should be carefully investigated as to character, and every one elected upon his merits, and every bill passed upon its merits.

"How could you do that?" queried Sir Robert.

Just as we run our lodges and churches, I said. When the House is sitting, any member having an idea of some measure for the benefit of the country at large should propose a bill, obtain a seconder and the whole matter be voted upon independently and passed or defeated accordingly on its merits. Whereas in the present system, if one party brings in a bill, the opposition votes against it, not because it is not beneficial, but because it was formulated by their opposite party.

Then if it happened the power is changed the next session, they bring in a similar bill with perhaps a few minor changes and it is then voted down by the first party because it is not their bill. Thus wasting the time of Parliament and getting nowhere.

Sir Robert's reply was that I was looking for the millennium ahead of its time.

I thanked him for his answer, for it was tantamount to admitting my idea was correct.

SAANICH BENEFIT

I should like to reply to a letter written by J. K. Smith in Monday's Times. He is very sorry that Mr. Ash did not make first place in this last election. In his opinion no member worked so hard and tried to do more for the people of Saanich regardless of party affiliations.

In my opinion no member has done less for Saanich than Mr. Ash during my 25 years in Saanich. It is true he made lots of promises during his reply to the Speech from the Throne in the previous House, but after that he was just another member of the Liberal party.

As far as P.R. is concerned, in my opinion it is a washout and if we have another election soon let it be on a straight party ticket.

HIGHER AND HIGHER

Your editorial Higher Lunacy should read STILL Higher Lunacy when you take into consideration that national currency is a debt from the government to the people of a country, that cannot be exported, as it is only a commodity when abroad.

Nobody can export money, only goods. Thus when the U.S.A. is supposed to export seven billions to relieve Europe, goods to that amount must be exported. The money remains in the home circulation, and eventually causes inflation of the rest of the money in circulation.

When the exported goods are sold the U.S. government can buy back the resulting foreign exchange drafts, and give them away.

Trouble At the Border

By WALTER LIPPMANN
from Washington

HARDLY a day passes without an incident in Berlin, or in the corridors to Berlin, or in the vicinity of the Soviet military frontiers inside Germany and in the Baltic Sea. These incidents seem to fall into two main categories.

One consists of incidents started by East German and Soviet authorities in order to harass the West Berliners and to keep them reminded that Bonn and the Allies cannot give them full protection. They are a bit like a man away out in the jungle who has a big gun to protect him from the lions but no mosquito netting to keep off the insects.

The other category consists of incidents which are provoked, imagined, fabricated or have just happened by accident, in a border region which is in a condition of high tension and extreme alert. In such a border region one can never know really whether the incident was an act of policy or whether it was due to the mistake of an excited or an inefficient subordinate, a mistake which for reasons of prestige and policy has to be backed up.

Until recently the extraordinary thing about Berlin has not been how many but how few have been the incidents, considering the crazy way in which the unfriendly forces are scrambled.

The discipline of all the troops has been better than anyone had reason to count upon, and the way the commanders on both sides have maintained the discipline has been one of the reasons for hoping the Soviet government was not intending to make the breach irreparable. Now, however, we have to take note of a change—which suggests at least that it is now Soviet policy to make Berlin a focal point of trouble.

Then there are the incidents in the air. They appear to have a pattern. In all of them, I think, the Soviet government have argued that their airmen attacked the plane because it was off-course and over the Soviet borders.

It is obvious that they wish it to be known to all governments and to all pilots that to fly over Soviet territory or near it is very dangerous. The Soviet commanders are highly alerted to aerial reconnaissance, and obviously they are trying both to repel it and to frighten it off.

Yet in most, if not all, of these cases the plane they shot at or shot down seems not to have been off-course. But often it has turned out that there has been a plane, like the one that was shot at, which was admittedly off-course some short time before the incident.

This suggests that the Soviet force has orders not only to shoot all planes which come across the line or within reconnaissance range of special military works—but also to commit reprisals, to attack an innocent plane if they have recently missed a violating plane.

This increasing military tension in the border region is intended to affect European opinion. It is doing just that.

The signature of the Bonn agreements was followed by the threat that with Soviet help the East German government would form an East German army to match the West German army which is to be raised with our help.

This is a threat that is bound to be taken seriously, which in Europe is taken seriously, especially in the light of the mounting violence along the partition line and around Berlin. As long as the troops facing one another in Germany are Soviet and Allied, the risk of fighting in Germany is controlled by the high policies of the great powers.

But if armed Germans are facing armed Germans in this inflammable border region, then the great powers may not be able to control their respective Germans, or perhaps be willing to do so.

Ups and Downs

By BRIAN TOBIN

THERE seems to be," said the Elevator Man, "some disagreement about the best way to protect our young against the world we've built for them. Take comic books for instance. Most folks have a general idea that the best way to handle that problem is to ban the bad ones so that kids can't see them. The reasoning is that what you don't know won't hurt you. Trouble is, the kids apply the same principle to their parents when they smuggle the books into the house and read them in bed. But another expert, a Toronto doctor, comes out with the theory that the best thing to do is to stuff the youngsters with the 'most horrible and terrifying' comic books you can get. Do it early, too, he says. That way they'll have their fill and get over the 'comic book stage' quickly—he says. It's the same principle as giving a kid a cigar to smoke so he'll get sick and never want to smoke again. But a lot of smokers seem to have got their start that way. Going down!"

"You can make," said the Elevator Man, "a good argument on either side, it seems to me. But you don't want to take too much for granted. You don't really build up a defense against sin by never knowing it. The danger there seems to be that if you ever do get a look at it later on it may prove too attractive. But if in your youth you've been exposed to the evil and learned to reject it, there'll be much less danger to you in your future encounters with it. But this method has to be training with it, not merely exposure. You have to learn a thing is wrong, and why it's wrong. Otherwise, in the case of crime comic books, you'll just create addicts instead of people who are superior to the lure. Lower main!"

"If you don't learn early," said the Elevator Man, "it's a long hard struggle later on to see the light. But some people grasp things quickly even then. Like the woman at the golf links. 'Do you wish to leave to play?' the pro asked her. 'Oh, no, thanks,' she said. 'It's my friend who wants to learn this time. I learned yesterday.'"

The House of Representatives has delivered another slap in the face to the American consumer by refusing to abolish the famous "cheese" amendment (which cuts imports by 40 per cent) and also by encouraging a "go it alone" attitude in the world-wide competition for scarce and strategic raw materials.

Furthermore, by taking these two actions the House has shown itself indifferent not only to the goodwill of our overseas friends and allies but also to one of the fundamental tenets on which American foreign policy is based.

Two Billion Dollar Defense Program Approved

OTTAWA, June 26 (CP)—The defense department's record $2,000,000,000 program to build up the forces and aid Canada's allies this fiscal year has the green light from Parliament.

The Commons gave Defense Minister Claxton the signal Wednesday to go ahead with the vast project after hearing of new plans to aid European defense and of new hitches in building Canada's own air strength there.

Mr. Claxton said troubles in getting four airfields on the continent—12 R.C.A.F. squadrons are due there by 1954—are causing months of delay.

He said, too, that Canada's own air training program for Canadian and Atlantic Pact pilots is operating about at its peak but that Canada has offered to take further pact trainees if she can find room for them under existing facilities.

He intimated that five new minesweepers now being built will be going to Allied Pact countries, the first Canadian warships to go under the mutual aid program. Other new things to go free are $15,000,000 worth of old-pattern navy and air force equipment and a "considerable quantity of bombs, shells, rocket launchers, depth charges, projectiles and cartridges."

"Insofar as new equipment is concerned, we are offering ourselves in considerable quantity so that we will have the advantage of an economic run. With regard to old-type equipment, we are offering things which we think we should replace and which we can replace."

The Heat Knocked Out Sugar Ray

By STAN OPOTOWSKY
United Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK, June 26 (UP)—Joey Maxim pressed an ice bag to his swollen brow in the oven that was his dressing room and mumbled: "Know he was ahead?" "I'd have to be a real dummy not to know he was way ahead. My corner kept telling me I'd have to come real fast to win."

"I don't know what happened," Maxim said. "I thought maybe he was faking when he started reeling. I thought maybe he was giving me that dead man act. But actually he started to soften up in the 11th. He was the smaller guy and I guess he couldn't take the heat too good."

Maxim sipped a thermos of tea. He reeled a little in the stifling, noisy cubicle at Yankee Stadium and somebody shouted, "Give him air!" Maxim looked at the sweating reporters. "Say," he said with a grin, "You guys didn't have a picnic either, did you?" Maxim said fighting Robinson was tough. "It was the first time I ever fought anybody so little. I just couldn't get at him."

Robinson Collapses Maxim Keeps Title

Harlem Dandy Fails to Answer Bell for 14th Round

By JACK CUDDY

NEW YORK, June 26 (UP)—Joey Maxim gave thanks today for the unprecedented heat that helped cause the collapse of Sugar Ray Robinson and gave his light-heavyweight crown.

Cleveland Joey admitted he knew Robinson was "way ahead" when the end came on a technical knockout at the start of the 14th round.

Slender Robinson, the middleweight champion who was trying to win the light-heavy title, was unable to answer the bell at the start of the 14th because of the 104-degree heat in Yankee Stadium, and because of the body punishment he received from a man who out-weighted him 15½ pounds.

It was Robinson's first loss by a kayo and his third defeat in 137 professional fights.

A surprisingly large crowd of 47,968 witnessed the postponed fight in which a good big man beat a good little man—in an oven. The gross gate was $421,696.

TWO REFEREES

The heat—highest ever registered for any professional fight here—was so terrific that it forced referee Ruby Goldstein to leave the ring at the end of the 10th round and be replaced by referee Ray Miller. It was the first time on record that a referee had been replaced in a championship fight. Goldstein was treated for heat prostration.

Robinson, too, was treated an hour for heat prostration in the dressing room, and he had to be supported by manager George Gainford and wife Edna Mae as he walked to the automobile that carried him to his home in suburban Riverdale.

Sugar Ray—although out-weighted 173 pounds to 157½—gave Maxim such a thorough licking in the first 11 rounds that Judge Harold Barnes scored 10 rounds for Robinson and three for Maxim. Judge Arthur Alda had Sugar Ray ahead, 9-3-1. The United Press favored him 10-2-1.

Referee Goldstein's score card was not available, but his successor, Miller, gave Robinson the 11th, but the 12th and 13th went to Maxim.

Robinson, the former welterweight champion who was trying to follow in the footsteps of Bob Fitzsimmons and Henry Armstrong by winning his third world title, might have achieved his objective on a cooler night.

Maxim said today, "It would have been one helluva fight on a cool night. Yes, the heat bothered me a little; but I got behind because I had to keep chasing the little fellow and couldn't catch up with him."

New Quadra Street Jam Factory Is Opened

A new factory which will provide employment as well as an important market for south Vancouver Island berry growers went into production here this week.

The factory, located at 3938 Quadra Street, is operated by the Sylvan Foods Ltd., and is manufacturing "Holsum" jam products and all types of canned fruits.

The firm occupies the premises of the former Victoria Fruit Packing Company which went out of business here two years ago. Denis Hagar is president of the new company.

The firm will use up about 100 tons of small fruits this year.

S. F. Ford, who has 30 years' experience in the analysis and manufacture of most foods in Great Britain, is plant manager.

"We intend to use only fresh fruits," he said. "We are making a high quality jam."

BETWEEN TIMES

By MONTE ROBERTS

No matter what happens eventually in Selkirk waters, right now it is safe to say controversy is booming.

You may have noticed various stories in the paper recently about clams, and the fact that it is illegal to dig them at this season of the year.

This came as news to one Victoria housewife, who telephoned our city editor, in some distress.

"I have clams in the house," she said, "and I am afraid I am breaking the law. Can you tell me what to do?"

"When did you dig the clams?" asked the city editor.

"Oh, I didn't dig them," she said, "I got them at the store. They are in cans."

Pedestrian sanctuaries will remain, according to a news story.

For which all pedestrians will now say "sanctuary much."

The current issue of a well-known women's magazine contains an article with the outspoken title "The Natural Superiority of Women."

The author of this strange document is a doctor—a male doctor, at that—who claims that man is only an incomplete female.

"His life is warped from the moment he realizes he can't have a baby," says this eminent physician.

Among other things, man is constitutionally weaker than woman, shorter lived, and seven times more likely to go insane.

All of this is quite possibly true, especially the part about the probability of going wacky.

The reason that men are more apt to go crazy than women is that most men have to live with women.

Dr. Lionel Stevenson, the distinguished professor of English who visited here a week ago, claims that "officials" is the greatest single threat to the English language.

The tendency toward double-talk in government documents, he believes, is doing more damage to English than radio, TV, movies and comic books combined.

In case Dr. Stevenson would like documentary evidence to back up his contention, I offer this extract from a B.C. Hospital Insurance service notice of premium:

"This account should be paid when received and is overdue on first day of billing period. Arrears are overdue."

As far as I can see, the first sentence means your payment is too late before you get a bill.

As for "arrears are overdue," you could apply the principal that two negatives make a positive, and interpret this to mean that you are supposed to forget the whole thing.

The B.C. government will not reduce the price of liquor, a headline tells us.

So this is news?

TOPICS OF THE TIMES

Two separate thefts of tools from construction jobs were reported to city police Wednesday. Paulin's Plumbing Company, 1325 Government, said a pair of pipe-cutters was taken from a job being undertaken at the Lincoln Hotel on Broad Street, and E. F. Ludwig, 1042 Pandora, reported the theft of an electric hand drill from a house under construction at 1857 Oak Bay Avenue.

Motorcyclist Edward B. Roberts, 2585 Arbutus Road, received a shoulder injury Wednesday afternoon when he lost control of his machine while trying to avoid striking a bicyclist on Cadboro Bay Road.

Condition of city traffic officer John Isaac, injured Tuesday when his motor-cycle skidded and fell on top of him outside City Hall, was reported good at Jubilee Hospital today. He suffered a leg injury and shock.

Cherry-stealing time is here again. George Palluk, 754 Hillside, told city police he apprehended a youth taking cherries from a tree Wednesday night on property owned by him at 805 Hillside.

Hundreds of interested citizens attended open house at the city's new health and welfare building on Cook Street, Wednesday. Parties were taken through the building, afternoon and evening, and shown the general functions of the department.

STILL TALKING

Germ Warfare Charge Author Speaking Here

The man who maintains United Nations forces are using germ warfare in the Korean campaign, Dr. James Endicott, speaks in Victoria next Monday.

The chairman of the Canadian Peace Congress is on a national speaking tour. He is billed to report here on a recent tour of China. He has booked the Victoria Ballroom, 1600 Government Street.

Dr. Endicott's charges concerning United Nations' alleged adoption of germ warfare in the Far East have drawn suggestion of prosecution as well as official denials.

But Justice Minister S. S. Garson has decided prosecution and conviction would only help with publicity and the chance of a claim of martyrdom on the Communist interests Dr. Endicott serves.

Justice Minister Garson has called Dr. Endicott "a dupe and tool" of Communism.

No shrubs in Manhattan—TV star gardens here.

NO ROSES IN CONCRETE

Star Would Stop if Staying Paid

By DON INGHAM

Stage stars art not what they used to be.

Some may follow the old tradition that leaned heavily on eccentricity, but the majority are serious students of their profession, like Elliott Reid, an all-around stage, screen, radio and television actor now on holiday with relatives at 1383 St. Patrick Street.

"This is my first visit to the Pacific Northwest," he said today while admiring the garden of his hostess and cousin, Mrs. B. Darling. "If there was any way for an actor to make a living here I'd be sailing in Cadboro Bay every day and admiring the scenery."

GENUINE RARITY

Now 32 years of age and a native New Yorker—a genuine rarity—he has been on the stage for 18 years.

"It's still the nicest medium to work in; but television and radio provide the steady incomes," he said. "Stage shows are too expensive."

He has just finished a year's run with Bert Lahr and Dolores Gray in "Two on the Aisle," and is going to scout some comedy material from the upcoming presidential nominating conventions in the United States.

He has a variety of interests reaching far beyond the New York entertainment world, and some strong convictions regarding politics, foreign affairs, and the moving picture-television battle.

"Don't quote me on them," he said, "but if you have time, let me know the results of your election. I'd like to know how your new voting system has worked."

After the steel and concrete of Manhattan he enjoys putting in his cousin's garden.

"There's neither the time nor the place to do this in New York," he said. "About the only hobby I have is studying foreign languages."

He will be in Victoria for another week before returning to the United States.

Highway Tangle Astonishes B.C.

The provincial public works department today is at a loss to understand Defense Minister Brooke Claxton's reported statement Wednesday that route of the new Island Highway outlet from Victoria has not been settled.

The federal government already has approved the route. We are not permitted to call tenders on the job until Ottawa approval is received. We have received approval and five tenders have been submitted," an official stated.

He said there has been no disagreement about the route between federal and provincial officials.

Federal approval had to be given the route because it is part of the Trans-Canada Highway for which Ottawa pays one-half.

"If Ottawa didn't like the route we never would have had our plans approved," the official stated.

The defense minister reportedly made the statement in reply to Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, V.C., M.P. for Nanaimo. He promised a conference between his department and the resources and development department regarding the route.

Gen. Pearkes felt the defense department would be vitally interested in the route because of military and naval establishments west of Victoria. He said a bottleneck will exist in the vicinity of Parson's Bridge if the present plans are followed.

NEW ROAD ROUTE

Provincial government plans call for the new highway to start from the city-Saanich boundary at Regina Avenue and Douglas Street, then swing alongside the C.N.R. tracks, mostly along Battleford Avenue to Portage Inlet.

The new highway will cross Helmcken Road at the top of Victory Road, and carry on until it joins the existing highway near Thetis Lake Road. This is just the first section of the highway. Route of the second section, scheduled to be built next year, hasn't been announced.

Premier Calls Commons Back November 20

OTTAWA, June 26 (BUP)—Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent served notice today that the Commons would be called back into session Nov. 20 when it completes its current business.

Mr. St. Laurent said, however, if the House should be needed to deal with an emergency before that time, it can be called back into session earlier.

It was expected the Commons would complete its current business late Saturday night or early next week.

NEW YORK (NEA)—Henry Thoma's won the 1951 Roosevelt Raceway sulky driving championship with a .361 average—32 victories, 24 seconds and 19 thirds in 142 starts.

Alert Banker Foils Cheque Racketeering

Woman Leaves Trail of Fraud on Trip Across Canada, Witness Tells Court

A 57-year-old Toronto housewife appeared in police court today to face a charge of false pretences after she allegedly attempted to cash a $400 worthless cheque here.

Mrs. Ada Victoria Evans, the mother of nine children, pleaded guilty and asked for trial in magistrate's court. She was remanded to Monday in order that a probation officer's report may be obtained.

She was arrested Wednesday on a warrant by city detectives Norman Bath and Louis Callon. Court heard evidence from Paul B. Coombs, manager of the Hillside and Douglas branch of the Bank of Nova Scotia, that Mrs. Evans had visited his bank and asked that a $400 cheque be cashed.

The cheque was drawn on a Toronto bank.

IDENTIFICATION "She showed identification which substantiated her association with the bank," said Mr. Coombs.

The bank manager said he had received notice that the accused had been "negotiating worthless cheques" while she travelled west from Toronto with her son.

"I told her it would be impossible to pay out the money until it was available in Toronto, then I got in touch with the police."

"We had received warnings for the past two weeks of Mrs. Evans while she was on the trip west," he said.

The accused, well-dressed and grey-haired, is held in custody. Her son, about 20, was in court during the hearing.

'Secret' Base Tale News to Service

House Hears of Erosion's Threat to Unidentified Naval Station in B.C.

In Ottawa Wednesday night, George Cruickshank, Liberal member for Fraser Valley, told the House of Commons a "secret naval station" in his riding is being endangered by erosion of the Fraser River's banks.

In Victoria today, naval intelligence reported that any "secret naval station" in the Fraser Valley was so "secret" that the Pacific Command had never heard of it.

The only naval installations in the valley are two radio stations, one at Matsqui and the other at Aldergrove, and there is nothing "secret" about either of them.

Mr. Cruickshank reportedly told the House, during discussion on Works Minister Fournier's estimates, that "the interceptor station for the whole Pacific Coast, in case of a Russian invasion, was endangered within the last ten months by the falling away of a bank."

He did not locate the station, but said the defense department has an investment of more than $1,500,000 in the area.

He also said a stretch of the Canadian National Railway is being endangered by erosion.

Mr. Fournier said it is not the job of his department to protect national defense or C.N.R. property. They had their own budgets, and the minister suggested

Damages Sought

Unstated damages are claimed by Mr. and Mrs. David Glass in a civil suit against Richard E. Ritchie now being heard in Supreme Court before Mr. Justice N. W. Whittaker.

The plaintiffs are seeking damages for injuries suffered in an automobile collision at the corner of Yates and Quadra in February, 1951.

CAR SWINDLE TAKES YOUTH BEHIND BARS

A 21-year-old youth drew a two-year penitentiary term in police court today on a charge of obtaining a car by false pretences.

Sentenced was Neale Vander-Haeghe, no fixed address. He was already under a two-year sentence to the B.C. penitentiary given by a mainland court on a different charge.

They will run concurrently. Vander-Haeghe was returned here last Saturday from the Mainland by city detective Deans Blackstock.

CARPENTERS MAY RENEW NEGOTIATIONS

New Formula Not Known Here

A new formula to end the 17-day carpenters' strike on Vancouver Island and in Greater Vancouver was scheduled for study today.

The proposal, offered by the Labor Relations Board, was to be reviewed by the General Contractors' Association in Vancouver today and by mass union rallies Friday and Saturday.

Under the plan, the 3,000 striking carpenters would get $2.10 an hour. They struck for $2.50. The offer also would give them double time for overtime and room and board on out-of-town jobs.

The strike, which has idled 5,000 allied workers in the industry, tied up all construction in the affected areas. The shutdown was complete when the contractors suspended operations in retaliation to what they called "a hopeless situation."

The formula was proposed to the carpenters' negotiating committee and the contractors' representatives, but was turned down. Both groups, however, agreed to present it to the rank-and-file for approval or rejection.

NO CONFIRMATION

The report that mainland carpenters and their employers might re-open negotiations was contradicted today by W. J. Hamilton, chairman of Victoria Builders' Exchange.

"There was no offer made, and no negotiation," Mr. Hamilton said at press time today.

NO PROGRESS

Victoria, meanwhile, is still gripped by the strikes of carpenters and International Woodworkers of America.

Carpenters and contractors, who reported no resumption of negotiations in sight, expanded their picketing today to include the escalator installation job at the T. Eaton Co. store.

Local 1-118 of the I.W.A. rejected a proposal from the Chamber of Commerce that 4,500,000 feet of lumber at Ogden Point be released for loading. It has been under picket since the start of the strike by 32,000 coastal woodworkers.

The carpenters may soon be joined on the picket lines by Victoria painters, who Wednesday night voted in favor of strike action in a government-supervised vote.

Figures on the vote will not be released until after a meeting tonight of employees of all shops concerned. The painters have been negotiating with the Victoria Builders' Exchange and independent contractors.

STILL 'AGREEABLE'

Stewart Alsbury, president of the I.W.A. district council, said the union was agreeable to talks "under Labor Relations Board" mediation or any other mediator appointed by Labor Minister John Cates.

Mr. Cates said he would willingly appoint a mediator "if requested to do so by the Labor Relations Board."

Forest Industrial Relations Ltd., spokesman for 162 operators, has claimed it cannot negotiate while the union is conducting an illegal strike.

INCREASE—In Montreal, 1,800 Canadian National Railway conductors have been given an 11 per cent increase in their basic pay retroactive to May 16, the C.N.R. and Order of Railway Conductors announced today.

The agreement, covering the raises but no rule changes, will run until June 25, 1953, and affect conductors of the western, central and Atlantic regions, excluding the Newfoundland district.

Alert for Comet---Due in 1954

BY MONTE ROBERTS

Astronomers, by the very nature of their science, are men and women of infinite patience. Thus it caused no surprise when members of the American Astronomical Society and the Astronomical Society of the Pacific, meeting in Victoria this morning, were asked to keep their eyes open for the return of a comet—two years hence.

Paul Herget, of the University of California, told his associates they may expect the return of the Pons-Brooks comet in 1954. An exceptionally bright comet, easily visible to the naked eye, it was last seen in 1884, and its first recorded appearance was in 1812. Comet Pons-Brooks is a member of Neptune's comet family, astronomers state.

This morning's joint session of the two societies was opened by Guro Gjelstad, a Norwegian astronomer now associated with Mt. Wilson and Palomar Observatories in California.

Miss Gjelstad discussed the magnetically variable star HD 153882.

Wand Will Kill Weeds
With a Single Touch!

By PENNY SAVER

Wave a wand! Kill a weed!
Sounds fantastic I know, but you actually can kill weeds with a wand.

To be more explicit, the wand is called a weed-wand. This, you give a two-cent filling of 2, 4-D which will kill a thousand or more weeds.

Got that much done? Good!
Now trot out to that carpet of grass dotted with weeds and don't forget to go armed with your weed-wand.

Grasp it over the cap like a cane or hold it between your fingers like a pen and press lightly over the centre of the weed. On large weeds or small clusters, increase flow and smear most of leaf surface.

The slight pressure of the weed-wand on the tender heart of the plant actually bruises tissues and gives an injection of 2, 4-D. This dynamic hormone circulates through the plant and kills right out to the root tips.

Listen to this! After the application the weeds look sick in a week—shrivel up and blow away in two or three weeks.

Weed-wand kills dandelion, plantain, thistle and 90 similar pests. With the spot application you kill only the weed, no other plants and there is no fear of the "killer" being carried to other plants. It will only kill the weeds it touches and it is assured that it will not harm soil or grass.

And talk about economical. The wand sells for only $1. No more stooping or digging to get rid of weeds.

You too can have a green thumb!
That's right. Green-thumb gloves delight all who use them and they certainly should not be overlooked by anyone who likes to putter around in the garden.

The gloves, which are made of a new fabric which resembles chamol, are dirt repellent, but when soiled they can be washed. Actually, they are not only for the gardener, but would be ideal for protection when dusting, painting or doing any other odd jobs.

Selling for $1.25.

TODAY'S RECIPE

PINEAPPLE AND RICE FREEZE

Two cups cooked rice, 1½ cups crushed pineapple, drained, ½ cup but or cane sugar, 1 cup whipping cream or evaporated milk, 2 tablespoons lemon juice if evaporated milk is used.

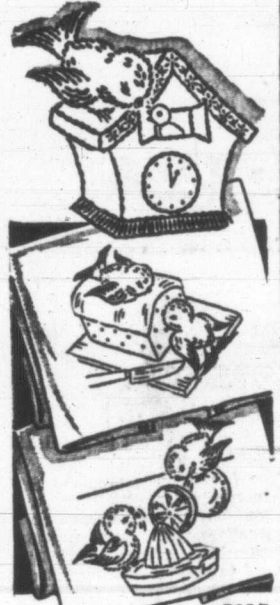

To make 2 cups cooked rice, put 1 cup of uncooked rice, 2 cups cold water and 1 teaspoon of salt into a two-quart saucepan and bring to a vigorous boil. Turn the heat as low as possible. Cover saucepan with lid and leave over this low heat for 14 minutes. Do not move lid nor stir rice while it is cooking. Turn off the heat. It is then ready—perfectly cooked—with all the grains separate and fluffy.

Mix the cooled, cooked rice, pineapple and sugar. Whip the cream or the evaporated milk and fold into the rice, pineapple and sugar mixture. Place in freezing trays and freeze until firm. If dessert is kept for several days, remove trays from freezing compartment and place in coldest part of refrigerator several hours before dessert is served if a softer texture is desired.

For those who like almond flavoring, ½ teaspoon of almond extract may be added to the dessert when the whipped cream or whipped evaporated milk is folded in.

To whip the evaporated milk, chill undiluted evaporated milk thoroughly. Pour into a chilled bowl. Whip until milk begins to thicken. Add the lemon juice and whip until stiff. This recipe makes seven servings.

Scots Prominent In Royal Menage

LONDON, (CP).—Since the Queen took up residence at Buckingham Palace there's an increased number of Scottish brogues to be heard in the royal apartments and corridors.

Like the Queen Mother, Queen Elizabeth has many Scots on her household staff.

Most of the Clarence House staff came to Buckingham Palace with her and for the first time the palace kitchens are presided over by a woman—Swedish-born Miss Alma McKee, widow of an Aberdeenshire man.

The Queen's personal maid, Margaret MacDonald, is an Inverness girl who, as an auburn-haired 16-year-old, became nursery-maid to baby Princess Elizabeth and has stayed with her since.

It's well known that Helen Lightbody, nanny to Prince Charles and Princess Anne, is a Dunfermline lass, and her assistant, Mabel Scott, also comes from Scotland.

Miss McGregor is the canny Scot in charge of domestic arrangements in the Royal apartments and the chauffeur who takes the Royal children on afternoon drives may well be James MacDonald of Montrose. He's just one of the Scots engaged in the Royal mews.

WHY GROW OLD?

Leg Makeup Applied
Correctly Is Attractive

With hot weather harassing our pores, we see some pretty terrible examples of leg makeup. In the past this could not be avoided. Today it is unnecessary.

Since so many women go without stockings much of the summertime, and we even see alluring gals in lovely evening gowns, sans hosiery, the art of leg makeup becomes essential. If you get a good brand and apply it cleverly you will be much cooler, and no one will know whether you are wearing sheer nylons or something out of a bottle.

In the first place, unless your legs are free from hair, leg makeup is a mess. Of course, your legs are a mess anyway if they have hair on them. Use a depilatory, a razor or wax. Be sure that your legs are entirely dry before putting on the artificial stockings. It is better not to apply leg makeup too soon after a bath because the swift strokes used dislodge any dead skin cells which were loosened during your bath. Rub legs briskly with towel in order to get rid of dead skin.

Apply your leg makeup with rapid, sweeping strokes. You can use your hands or a piece of chamois or cotton. I myself think the hands are best because you can more quickly and effectively blend the edges of the strokes.

Remember when this product first appeared during the war? Then your liquid stockings looked wonderful in the house but you could not afford to get caught in the rain because your legs streaked. Today you can even swim in some of the makeup you wear—on the legs and on the lashes. Of course you probably know that there is water-proof mascara.

In case your problem is not leg makeup but the legs you have to put on, and you want some help in overcoming leg figure faults, you may want my leaflet No. 13, "Why Not Take Steps Toward Lovely Legs?" Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Bride From Cultus Lake Married at Service Here

Rev. E. G. Thompson officiated at the recent double ring ceremony in Knox Presbyterian Church which united Irene Agnes Campbell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Campbell, Cultus Lake, and Harold Donald Ferguson, grandson of Mrs. Lena Taylor, Alpha Street.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white slipper gown with French lace Elizabethan collar fastened with lily point sleeves, full skirt and long train. Her finger-tip veil misted from a coronet of orange blossoms and she carried a cascade bouquet of white sweet peas and red roses.

At the reception held at Norway House, Mr. W. Florence proposed the toast. Mrs. Campbell assisted in receiving the guests at the reception.

THE DOCTOR SAYS

Rats Can Transmit Dread Weil's Disease

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.
For anyone who hates rats as much as I do, it is a pleasure to comply with Mrs. R's request to discuss Weil's disease.
This is much more a disease of rats than it is of human beings, but in rats the disease can last for a long time, and these pests then can become a source of danger to human beings.
The germ which causes Weil's disease is excreted in the urine of infected rats, and therefore sewer workers, coal miners, ditch diggers, fish cutters, or any others who work in damp places infested by rats are liable to catch the disease.
Indeed, there have been a number of cases of human disease acquired by swimming in contaminated ponds or canals.
Like other germ diseases of mankind, there is an interval between infection and the appearance of the first symptom which is usually about eight to 12 days. Once this period has passed, signs of the disease come on rapidly, usually with chills and fever.
Headaches, pains in the muscles, and sometimes disturbances in the digestive tract or other evidences of illness are frequent. There are a number of unpleasant complications of the disease also, and about one person in 20 who has a severe attack dies from the disease.
It is important that an early and correct diagnosis of Weil's disease be made, and this is not always easy because it resembles other acute infections, and since it is not exactly common, a problem in diagnosis is often present.

Tanks—For The Drink

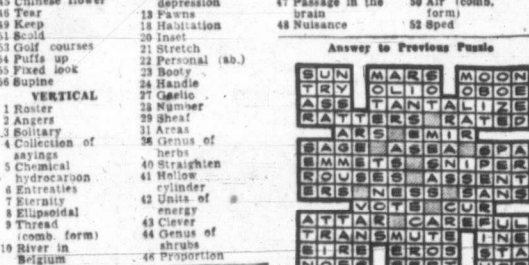

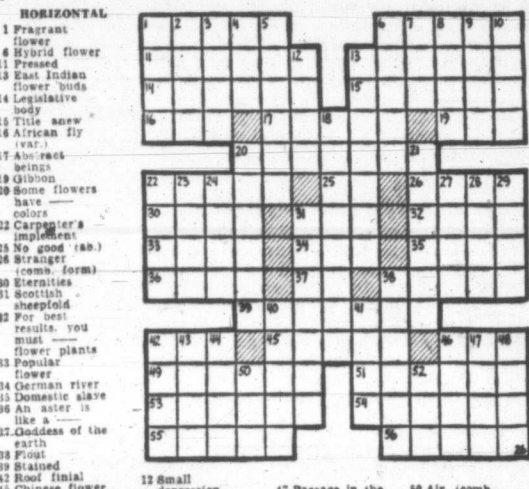

BAD OEYNHAUSEN, Germany, June 26. (Reuters).—A British army lieutenant has been given a severe reprimand and 12 months' loss of seniority for running amok with his tank in a German beer garden, an army spokesman said today.
Lieut. J. L. Damant appeared Wednesday before his commanding officer to answer for the incident, which occurred two weeks ago when his unit was out on manoeuvres.
Damant's tank plowed through the beer garden, smashed tables and chairs, and blasted windows by firing blank shots after the proprietor refused him a drink.

Hallett Installed Optimist President At Dinner Function

Charles Hallett was installed president of the Victoria Optimist Club at a dinner at the Monterey Wednesday evening.
Others who took office for the coming year were Stan James, Karl Breitschmid, John Robertson and Jack Cox, vice-presidents; Tom Price, secretary, and Jack Brown, treasurer. Robert Gottell, George Gordon and A. Lyle were installed as members of the board of governors.
The club was entertained after the ceremony by pianist Bernie Ryall and vocalist Kenley Ryall. Bert Stark and his Pee Wee Cadets harmonica group, and Rolfe Walsh, impressionist.
To reduce vitamin losses, put vegetables into the refrigerator as soon after purchasing as possible. Wash and dry them well before storing.

New Warden Appointed to Oakalla Farm

Hugh Christie, director of corrections in Saskatchewan, has been appointed warden of Oakalla Prison Farm.
The appointment has been approved by order-in-council.
He succeeds retiring warden John Millman.
Mr. Christie is a University of B.C. graduate, and for the past year has been on loan to U.B.C. as a lecturer. At the same time, on a part-time basis, he has been employed by the attorney-general's department as a lecturer to the staff of the young offenders' unit at Oakalla.

Church Group Conference At Hope, B.C.

The conference is being held on a seven-acre camp site owned by the church. Cabins and tents house the 2,000 delegates and members attending from all parts of B.C.

Thieves Resent 'Protective' Title of Firm

Burglars who broke into an Esquimalt Road store left a reminder of what they think of protection services.
Police said Credit Protective Agency papers were torn up and left "as in defiance" after the theft of $4 in stamps and some change from Pitt and Holt, 601 Esquimalt Road.
The burglars jimmied a front door to gain entry to the building.

Africans Defy
Law—Seek JailArmed Police Alerted as Hundreds
Of Colored Citizens in Protest

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa, June 26 (CP)—Armed police stood on the alert today as hundreds of non-whites prepared to seek jail in a defiance campaign against South Africa's race segregation laws.

First reports on the campaign came from Port Elizabeth where 30 Africans were arrested for breaking the apartheid (apartness) laws on the railroads—using station platforms, waiting rooms or train coaches specially reserved for whites.

Yussif A. Cachalia, campaign secretary, said a trained, disciplined vanguard of volunteers would go into action "like soldiers" in all major cities to flout the segregation laws. They expect to be jailed.

He stressed, however, that no call had gone out for a general work stoppage. Effective precautions have been taken to conduct the movement peacefully, he added.

Behind the campaign is the African National Congress, repre-

70-YEAR-OLD
ADMITS PLOT TO KILL RHEE

PUSAN, Korea, June 26 (UP).—A 70-year-old Korean patriot who said he tried to kill the Emperor of Japan 30 years ago confessed today that he plotted the unsuccessful attempt to assassinate controversial President Syngman Rhee.

Aging elder statesman Kim Shi You admitted to police that he was responsible for the abortive attempt on Rhee's life and said he would try it again if he had a chance.

"If the president were here I would kill him," police quoted him as saying in his jail cell.

Kim, a veteran legislator who spent 30 years in prison for his fight for independence from Japanese rule, is a member of the Korean Democratic Nationalist Party, Rhee's principal opposition in his fight with the National Assembly.

Police said the conspiracy to kill Rhee as he addressed a public gathering Wednesday was directly linked with the Nationalists.

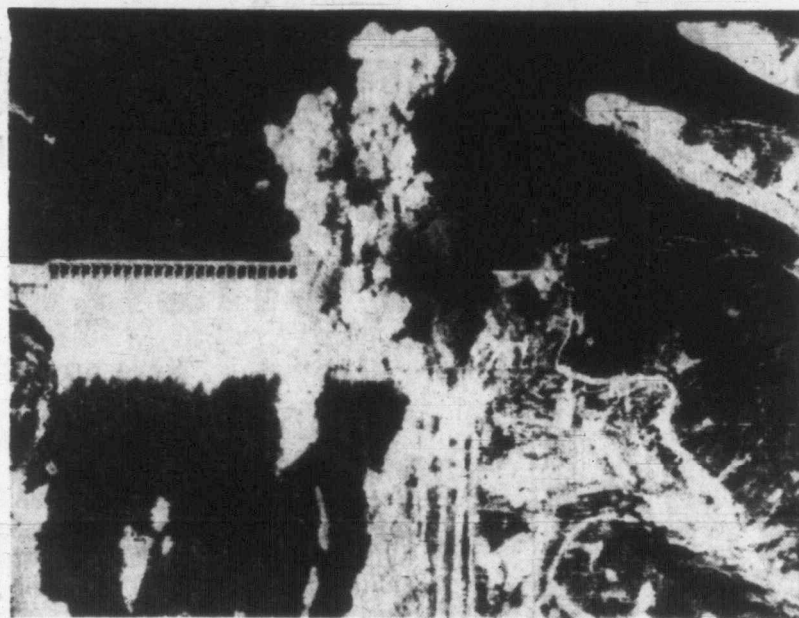

AGED PATRIOT

Kim, who was arrested along with fellow assemblyman Noh Ki Yong, confessed plotting and staging the attempt a few hours after he was picked up.

The aged patriot's reputation as a fighter for Korean freedom during the long Japanese occupation of Korea was recounted by pro-Rhee assemblyman Lyuh Woon Hong.

"(Kim) said he went to Japan and threw a bomb at the Emperor, but that attempt failed, too," Lyuh said.

Lyuh did not recall the exact dates involved, but he said Kim spent nearly 30 years in a Japanese prison after organizing an attempt on the Emperor's life.

North Korea Power Plants Smashed

Bombing of hydro-electric plants on the Yalu River in North Korea has brought world-wide repercussions. Forty thousand pounds of bombs were dropped on this dam in a joint navy-air force attack.

A short time later more than 100 U.S. Air Force F-84's bombed switching yards in the foreground. Shoreline at left is Manchuria. (U.S. Navy via NEA telephoto.)

Not Told of Yalu Blast
Through Mixup in U.S.

From A.P. and U.P. Dispatches

LONDON, June 26—An apology for United States failure to notify Britain in advance of the bombing of Yalu River plants in Korea this week has been reported made by American State Secretary Dean Acheson today. According to informed London sources, the apology was made to about 200 Parliament members.

Acheson is said to have told Britain, also, that the United States will welcome a Britisher as deputy commander in the Far East.

Acheson spoke for 20 minutes to a group of M.P.s and Lords representing various parties. It was a private meeting.

The source said Acheson told them American officials had intended to tell Britain's defense minister, Earl Alexander, in Washington about the plan. But, added the source, there was a mixup.

Alexander and Selwyn Lloyd, minister of state for foreign affairs, arrived in Washington last Saturday. The bombings were on Monday.

The source said Acheson said he was sorry that neither had been told about the attack. Apparently, the informant added, there was confusion about who should have told them, indicating that the State Department thought the State Department had.

Acheson also said the bombing was justified on military grounds. Because the plants produced 40 per cent of North Korea's power. After his speech, thanks were voted by those attending and Acheson applauded.

Acheson and Eden were reported earlier to have roughed out a plan for keeping Britain more closely informed of U.N. military operations in Korea.

Sources said their discussions went "extremely well."

Earlier, Prime Minister Churchill had been pressing for quick appointment of a top British military man on the planning and policy staff of the U.N. command in Korea.

Labor Protest Aftermath

This was the aftermath to protests by the Labor opposition in the Commons over the bombing of the Yalu River power plants. Churchill's Conservative government expressed regret that it was not advised in advance of the bombings but it defended them as attacks on a legitimate war objective. Labor members said the bombings threatened to extend the war in Asia.

Churchill conferred with Defence Minister Alexander on the talks Alexander had with United States officials concerning the proposed British appointment to the U.N. staff.

Informed sources said the formal request for the appointment of a Briton to Gen. Mark Clark's staff would be hurried to Washington. They said what Britain wants is an officer on the planning and policy staff in Tokyo rather than one concerned with actual military operations.

Dean Acheson, U.S. State Secretary, resumed talks here today with Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden.

His talks with Eden are dealing with the whole Far East situation, including Malaya, where Britain has been fighting a long-drawn and costly action against jungle guerrillas.

The cabinet received a full report on the Korean situation today from Alexander. He will make a statement on Korea in the House of Lords next week.

Moscow Plays Up Protests

LONDON, June 26 (AP).—Moscow radio today began playing up British Socialist protests against the United Nations bombing of North Korea power plants along the Yalu River and charged that the raiders hit a hospital with "many victims."

One broadcast, carried on the Soviet radio's home service and heard in London, said:

"The United States air force bombed a power station on the Yalu River which is supplying power to North Korea and adjoining districts of northeast China."

"In the district of the Yalu River, a hospital with a great number of wounded was subjected to particularly fierce raids. There were many victims."

The broadcast also said that at a London meeting observing the second anniversary of the Korean war, Labor members of Parliament, "Silverman, Bing and Swinger expressed indignation at the provocative action of Americans who had bombed the power plant on the Yalu River."

Sydney Silverman, Geoffrey Bing and Stephen Thomas Swinger are members of the left wing of the Labor Party.

Sacred Chief
Wants Voting
Count Speeded

VANCOUVER, June 26 (CP)—Social Credit party president Lyle Wicks today demanded that Premier Byron Johnson organize a speedy final count of election results "so that stable government may be established at the earliest possible moment."

"In a wire to the premier, the Social Credit chief—who himself holds a strong lead in Dewdney riding—questioned adequacy of arrangements for the count beginning July 3."

Mr. Wicks said he was alarmed by reports that returning officers expected to take a week or two to complete the count.

"We feel the public should have the over-all picture within three days and a final count within a week," he said.

MOTHER PLAYING BINGO, FATHER IN JAIL

SUDBURY, Ont., June 26 (BUP)—Two babies were burned to death Wednesday night while their mother played bingo and their father was in jail for drunkenness.

Police said today they were considering charges of criminal negligence against Mrs. Germaine Clement, 42, who lost two of her 11 children when fire razed their farm house 18 miles north of here.

Her husband, Roland, 36, had started a 30-day jail term Wednesday for drunkenness. He told the trial judge that "It was so hot, I just had to have a drink, and, after the first one, well, you know how it is."

He was released from his cell to visit the ruins of his home.

"Mother hasn't been home since Tuesday noon and she couldn't get near it. We just had to let it burn."

Police rushed to Sudbury to find Mrs. Clement playing bingo. Mrs. D. M. Anderson, night supervisor of the St. Joseph's Hospital here, said Pauline had told her that her mother had "left me in charge and hasn't been home since Tuesday noon."

Mrs. Anderson said the thin-faced little girl and the baby were both dressed in "practically rags" which were singed by the blaze.

Pauline told her that the four older children had been out picking strawberries for food and did not know about the fire until it was too late to make an attempt to rescue the two youngsters who perished.

The cause of the fire was not known. Police indicated a full-scale investigation would be launched immediately.

$3,000 a Year
Pensions Plan

OTTAWA, June 26 (CP)—The Commons voted 170 to 3 today to give approval in principle to legislation providing pensions up to a $3,000 annual maximum for long-service members of the House.

The three voting against the measure were Howard Green (P.C., Vancouver-Quadra), E. D. Fulton (P.C., Kamloops) and Gordon Churchill (P.C., Winnipeg South Centre).

The Liberals, led by Prime Minister St. Laurent, voted for the bill and were joined by all other Progressive Conservatives and by the C.C.F. and Social Credit members.

Hon. C. G. Power (L. Quebec South) abstained from voting. He said earlier that he would abstain as he was eligible for a pension.

The bill was put quickly through clause-by-clause study and will come up again Friday for final approval.
